2. In my opinion this Executive Order may be utilized as authority for the award of medals for exceptional and meritorious service, including valor, by CIA employees. Section 5 of the Executive Order provides as follows:

"A department may provide for the purchase and award of appropriate certificates, medals, or other emblems, in honorary recognition of service which is determined by the head of the department to be exceptional or meritorious."

The Executive Order in turn is based upon the authority of section 14 of Public Law 600 which authorizes the head of each department, under such rules and regulations as the President may prescribe, "...to incur necessary expenses for the honorary recognition of exceptional or meritorious service..."

Executive Orders. To confirm my opinion of our present problem, I called Mr. Burtner's office and in his absence put the question to a Mr. Lazowska. Mr. Lazowska subsequently called back to give his unequivocal, but informal, opinion that this Agency could award medals for any form of meritorious service, specifically including valor, and that a special appropriation would not be needed to provide funds for this purpose. It would be my opinion, therefore, that we may inform the Director that the procedure recommended by the Honor Awards Board is legally permissible.
